The Wonderful Colonel Brandon by Spiffyniftyriffic

Materials Needed:

Size I Tunisian Crochet Hook

Two colors of worsted weight yarn with a slight contrast

Blunt yarn needle to weave in ends

With darker yarn make a foundation chain of 20, when you get to the end of the foundation row you will turn your chain over so you can see the back bumps of the row. Insert the hook into the first bump away from the hook and yarn over and pull the loop up and leave it on the hook. You will do this all the way across the row and at the end of the row you will have 20 loops on your hook. Here is some picture showing how it is done.

After you have your twenty loops on your hook you are going to add your second color to give it that woven look. So just take your yarn and lightly yarn over the hook and pull through your first loop. This is always the case as you are coming back on your second row. Then you yarn over and pull through two loops, yarn over and pull through two loops all the way across the row.
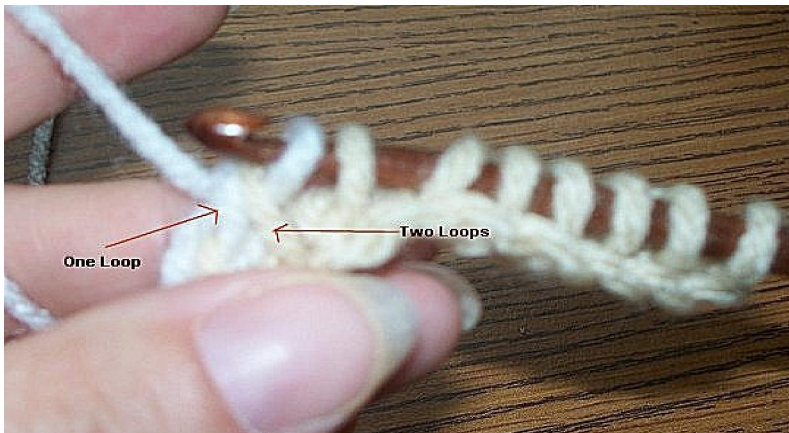

And here are some more pictures to aid you if needed.

Yarning over and pulling through one loop to start your return row, this is how every return row is started. ^

After you have pulled through one loop, you then yarn over and pull through two loops all the way across the row.

This is your second row done

Inserting into the loop on the row below

On your next row you insert your hook into the first loop below on your previous row.^

You then yarn over and pull through each loop leaving the loops up on the hook as shown above, all the way across the row.

This is how the entire scarf is done. You simply work back and forth switching colors as you get to the left end after your loops are on your hook. A trick I found out while doing this project is to lift your color up on the left of your color you were just working. This leaves a nice finished edge look to it.

picking yarn up to the left of the dropped yarn on the return row insures that the side will have a finished look

 Also be sure to keep track of how tight you are making your changing color rows, you do not want it to be too tight or you will end up with a scarf that looks ruffled on one side. When you get to the end of your project make sure you are on the second row of the color you started with, for example, I started on black so I wanted to end on black. When you get your second pass through row done, go into the loop below and just slip stitch all the way across the end to finish off and make it match the beginning of the scarf. My scarf ended up being five inches by 64 inches but you can make yours as long or as short as you'd like. Here is a picture of what it looks like when it is done. This scarf is also reversible so you can wear it with either side showing. The scarf had a tendency to want to curl even after I blocked it so if you don't desire that effect you can always just do a single crochet stitch all the way around the whole scarf.
